

Its all about the meat...

At Rookwood we take our meats seriously! We've partnered up with Albert Matthews, a North West family butcher, who dry-age all of their beef in one of England's only Himalayan Salt Chambers. Our preference is to only use traditional British breeds of livestock. We avoid mass-produced meat and use rare breed beef from local farmers in Lancashire, Cheshire and Cumbria. The cattle are fed exclusively on a natural grass diet, which helps to give an amazing taste to our steaks & burgers.
